

Gilda's Desert Cities

Because no one should have to face cancer alone

A Message from the Board Chair

It's been a year of transition and new vision at Gilda's, and the Board and I are very proud of what's been achieved. The most satisfying for me was the completion of our clubhouse improvements, including enlargement of our children's area, upgrading three handicapped-accessible bathrooms and the expansion and modernization of our kitchen. Fundraising was spearheaded by Gayle Hodges and Primetime International in loving memory of her husband Chuck Hodges. This project had incredible support from many partners, and we're grateful to all who took part.

With our new kitchen, we're adding nutrition to our Healthy Lifestyle Program in 2016. This meets a huge health need – how to eat right throughout the cancer journey. It will be named the Pearlman Nutrition Program in honor of the Pearlman Family for their generous contribution.

In other endeavors, we met the goals of our strategic plan for fiscal year 2015 and completed the year with no debt, while retaining cash on hand to fund a full year of programs. We also welcomed new President and CEO Maria Elena Geyer, whose vision, passion and energy are moving us quickly forward.

None of this would have been possible without the wonderful support of our many donors, volunteers, partners and community. Thank you for your generosity and commitment to our mission.

Paul D. Golden

A Message from the President/CEO

2015 was an exciting year for Gilda's. We're growing and thriving in new ways that will help us make an even bigger difference in the lives of those touched by cancer.

A wonderful example is the collaborative we have formed called Better Together for Community.

This group of nonprofit Coachella Valley organizations – Gilda's, the Desert Cancer Foundation, the Pendleton Foundation, Susan G. Komen Inland Empire and the American Cancer Society – works together to increase awareness of the free support services we each provide.

Gilda's is thrilled to have been awarded a grant from the Regional Access Project Foundation on behalf of Better Together for Community. This makes us the first nonprofit collaborative in our region to be grant supported. The funds will be used jointly to promote awareness of the mental health needs associated with cancer and available support services, while reducing the negative stigma often attached to mental health.

When we give our time or financial support in partnership to support a common goal, we can achieve so much, and I thank you for your support.

Maria Elena Geyer

Gilda's Desert Cities

providing hope,

support and inspiration

Beyond hospital visits and medical treatments there is Gilda's. Named for zany Saturday Night Live comedienne Gilda Radner, who benefitted from cancer support groups while battling ovarian cancer, Gilda's offers emotional, social and educational encouragement for anyone touched by cancer.

In 2007 the Institute of Medicine determined that social and emotional support are as vital as medical treatment for those fighting cancer. By offering these services, Gilda's provides an essential component of cancer care.

Gilda's welcomes men, women and children throughout the Coachella Valley, of any age and with any type or stage of cancer. Here, they find a nurturing, home-like environment where they and their friends, caregivers and loved ones can participate in 19 different cancer support groups, as well as fitness, nutrition and expressive arts classes, educational lectures, workshops and social activities — all at no cost.

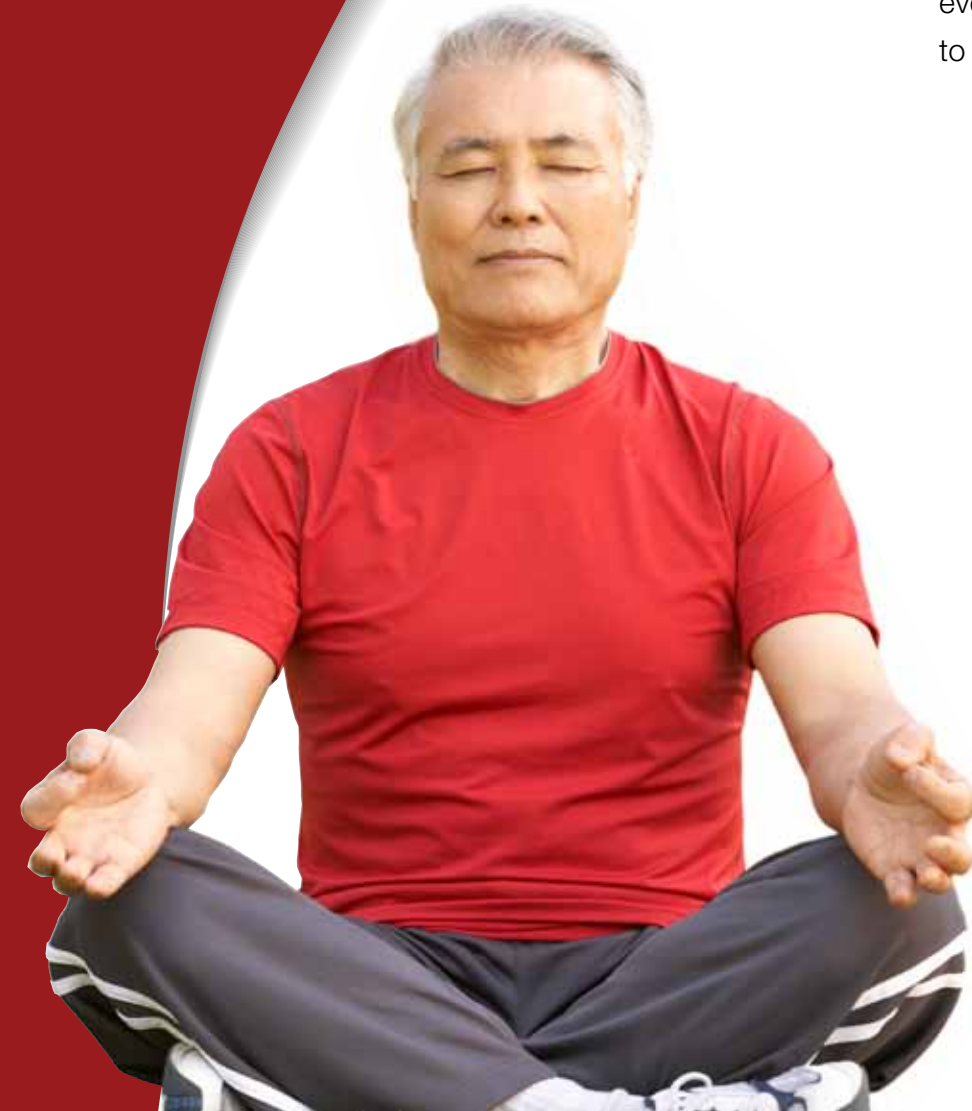

Thanks to Gilda's, no one ever has to face cancer alone.

With 200 volunteers and a community of partners with a common vision, Gilda's is truly a beautiful and welcoming place.

embracing everyone

touched by cancer

Gilda's addresses the shared emotional journey experienced by everyone touched by cancer. All programs are offered at no cost to members from the desert communities.

Gilda's educational programs, like this Spanish-language lecture, address a wide range of health and wellness topics.

Support groups are a core component of Gilda's Desert Cities.

SUPPORT GROUPS

Gilda's offers 19 professionally-led support groups:

- For the newly diagnosed
- For those living long-term with cancer
- For people no longer in treatment
- For those who have lost someone to cancer
- Caregiver groups for family members
- Groups in Spanish
- Special groups for children and teens
- Evening groups
- Groups off-site, so even those living at a distance can benefit

EDUCATIONAL, WELLNESS AND SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Gilda's nurtures the soul as well as the body, with:

- Educational lectures and workshops presented by physicians and other healthcare professionals
- Healthy Lifestyle Programs emphasizing the mind-body connection and stress reduction
 - Tai Chi, meditation and yoga
 - Expressive arts such as painting, crafts and theater
 - Nutrition classes
- Potlucks, parties, meals, family activities, entertainment, special events

"The Emotional Saving Is Just As Important"

Kippy Flur and founder Paula Berke

"Being able to share your feelings and know you're going to be understood is the greatest therapy you can give someone who's going through cancer," said Paula Berke, whose first exposure to a Gilda's Club came 17 years ago in Nashville. Paula attended support groups at a Gilda's there with her daughter Beth Horton, who was newly diagnosed with cancer.

Paula was so grateful for Gilda's support that when she returned home to Palm Desert she inspired friends to found Gilda's Club Desert Cities in the year 2000.

"When you're battling cancer, you're in the hospital a lot — and it's not your favorite place to be," Paula said. "Gilda's provides a completely different environment. People feel very safe."

Today, Paula's other daughter, Kippy Flur, is carrying on the family connection to Gilda's. First a volunteer, Kippy now handles Gilda's digital communications.

"The emotional saving is just as important as the physical saving," Kippy said. "Even when the crisis is over and families are back on their feet they stay connected to Gilda's, often as volunteers."

“You don’t have to go through cancer alone”

“At Gilda’s, I finally had a place where I could talk to people who understood what I was going through. You don’t have to face cancer alone.”

Tim Neuman

Tim Neuman was no stranger to cancer. He battled back from Stage 3 testicular cancer in 2000. But in 2008, he was shocked when a routine doctor’s visit revealed that he now also had another, rare form of cancer—and told he had just three months to live.

Tim’s family and friends had helped him through his first diagnosis. But having just moved to Palm Springs, he now needed other support. Tim had driven by Gilda’s many times but thought it might be only for women. One day he took a chance and stopped in.

“The instant I walked through the door, it was like a breath of fresh air hit me,” Tim said. “It was like all my burdens had been lifted.”

Tim outlived that second diagnosis by seven years. During this time, he attended Gilda’s support groups and gave back by volunteering: he taught art classes, helped with special events and served as a peer facilitator for a men’s networking group.

Last fall, just months before passing away on December 12, 2015, Tim made a very special gift. Even in a weakened state, he funded and redesigned the art room at Gilda’s into a creative space for inspiration and contemplation. It was a truly remarkable legacy.

“Gilda’s changed my life,” Tim Neuman always said. “At Gilda’s, I finally had a place where I could talk to people who understood what I was going through. You don’t have to face cancer alone.”

The Pearlman Nutrition Program

Nutrition is a top concern for those undergoing cancer treatments. Some treatments can affect the desire to eat and the ability to swallow or digest certain foods, at a time when maintaining emotional and physical strength is imperative.

Gilda’s is pleased to add the Pearlman Nutrition Program to its Healthy Lifestyle Program in 2016. It is being named in honor of Lynn and Marvin Pearlman, two giving, caring people who supported Gilda’s as much as it supported them. The program is being launched with a lead gift from the Pearlman Family, in conjunction with grant funding and in partnership with supermarkets, chefs and nutrition professionals.

Members and families will be able to participate in hands-on cooking demonstrations and join guided grocery shopping expeditions, in English or Spanish. A professional nutritionist will educate members on the benefits of specific foods, depending on such factors as their stage and type of cancer.”

It’s one more way Gilda’s is growing to offer hope and support to thousands in our community.
